

The second desert floral display is now coming into evidence. Early spring flowers have disappeared, a few of the later spring annuals are found here and there but that show is gone until another year. Many of the spring annuals blossom only during a wet season and they will not be with us again until another year of excess rainfall occurs.

Hardy desert dwellers are now to have their turn. Two conspicuous trees bridge the gap between the early flowering group and the later flowering group. The palo verde tree with its extravagant display of yellow, burst forth with spend-thrift prodigality to bolster up the diminishing color of the late spring annuals. It has now passed its height and the yellow catkin-like blossoms of the honey mesquite are rushing along to lend their support to the show. By the time they are on the wane the first of the hot weather plants should be bringing up their support to the last of the season's flower show.

The buds are heavy on the desert willow; a few of the exquisite blossoms have appeared but if the buds carry out their promise the trees are soon to be covered with multitudes of one of the desert's most beautiful flowers. Examine this bit of desert beauty; note the colors and shape of the corolla and don't overlook the dainty linings of yellow and purple on the interior.

If you are in a hurry, tarry a moment, there is nothing you can see on the desert now that is more worth the time than making the acquaintance of this tree. In the winter and spring it is inconspicuous for it is nearly leafless then but now it has come into its glory as outstanding among the native desert trees.

Some distance from the front of my house stands the largest, most symmetrical, and dignified willow I have met on this desert. I can look out the window of my office and from the distance of three hundred feet can easily distinguish the profusion of early light colored blossoms on one of the lower branches; just a hint of what is to be. This tree deserves the attention it has received in a number of paintings.

If you ride horseback you will find many of the desert willows in the washes; if you hike you will find it along Tahquitz Creek; if you insist on an automobile to carry you about, you will see it along the main highway, near the concrete bridge a short distance below the village.

There is a niche in the mountains above Andreas Canyon. From there southward the clouds, for the last three mornings have formed a gray layer, much like that of the icing on a cake; the brown rocks below, the blue sky above, looked as if old San Jacinto had prepared a feast for Santa Rosa.

I believe, after watching that niche, during the last few months that I have found a storm forecaster in the manner of the cloud formation at that point. I am making no guarantee as to the accuracy of this barometer or my ability to interpret its readings but so far it is working very well.

It is often disappointing to learn that the present day Indian can give so little reliable information concerning his ancestors. On the other hand, how much reliable information can a white man give about his ancestors. Suppose an Indian began asking a person questions such as these: How did your great grandfather butcher a hog? How did he preserve the meat without the aid of an electric refrigerator? How did he make square cut iron nails? What was his reason for wearing a queer, long, flowing beard? Was there any religious significance in the fact that he usually took a Sunday afternoon nap? What was his conception of heaven? What was the significance of the dyed chicken feather worn on the left side of a woman's hat?

Did you ever listen to yourself ask an Indian silly questions? Do some day. It may explain why the present day Indian looks at you in dumb wonderment that a white man could think of such questions.

SHANNON IS AGAIN ELECTED PRESIDENT HIGH SCHOOL BOARD

Frank V. Shannon, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was re-elected president of the high school board at the meeting of the board in Banning, Wednesday. Mrs. Robina Hemmerling was chosen as clerk.

The board will hold another meeting some time next week to select the faculty for the coming school year. It is believed Prof. R. A. Coverdale will be re-elected principal because of the efficient manner in which he has conducted the school.

PATTERSON AND PARTY HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

H. E. "Pat" Patterson, owner of drug stores and Palm Springs and Lake Arrowhead, had a narrow escape on Wednesday when his car was hit by another driven by a "hit and run" driver.

Mr. Patterson, accompanied by Dick Ironmonger, son of Rev. Ironmonger of Riverside, was coming from Lake Arrowhead, when they saw a light car, seemingly out of control, approaching at a rapid speed. The oncoming car was weaving from side to side, thus taking up all of the road. Mr. Patterson pulled to the side of the road, as far as he could, on the edge of a precipice. The rear-end of the light car swung into the front end of Mr. Patterson's new Buick, badly smashing the Buick and putting it out of commission. The driver of the Ford car hurriedly drove away, before Mr. Patterson could get his name. However, he got his license number, and notified officers of San Bernardino and Riverside, who have probably taken the offender into custody by this time.

Although Mr. Patterson was coming from the mountain resort, he was traveling up hill from a mountain valley, when the accident occurred. The Ford car was coming down the steep hill, and was headed toward the lake resort.

PALM SPRINGS DRUG STORE TO BE TELEGRAPH SUMMER HEADQUARTERS

Palm Springs Drug Store will be the summer headquarters for the Western Union Telegraph Company. A teletype machine will be installed, and all messages will be received and transmitted from the drug store.

H. E. "Pat" Patterson has made arrangements for a good summer season. Even if the weather should get extremely warm, the drug store will be comfortably cool at all times, due to a new cooling system which has been recently installed.

On June 1st Mr. Patterson will leave for Lake Arrowhead to take personal charge of his drug store and dining room at that mountain resort. A registered pharmacist and a soda fountain clerk will remain on duty in the Palm Springs store throughout the summer. Merrill Crockett, a registered pharmacist, will have charge of the local store.

Hood Proposes to Incorporate North Part of Village

The east half of section 10 and the west half of section 11, comprising all of the village north of Allejo road, will be incorporated as a city of the sixth class, in the very near future, according to R. H. Hood, prominent resident of the north-western part of town. Allejo road is directly north of the Catholic church and the Ford service station of Thompson Motor Sales. The school house is located in the proposed area to be incorporated.

The area covers a square mile, 640 acres, and has the required population of 500 residents, said Mr. Hood yesterday, while discussing the matter with the editor of this newspaper. He said the principal reason for incorporation is to prevent being included in the sanitary district, and that the people of the north part of town may have their own government. "We will have more of a protective association rather than a city government such as the name usually implies," said Mr. Hood. "I can get the necessary 25 signatures necessary to start incorporation proceedings within a few hours," he added.

Mr. Hood has also started a movement to protest against the proposed Sanitary District. He has mailed circular letters to all owners of property in the north part of town, inclosing protest cards to be signed. Following is the letter:

"Palm Springs, California.
"May 1, 1935.

"At 10 a. m. May 27th, 1935, the board of supervisors of Riverside county will hear protests against the proposed Sanitary District for Palm Springs.

"Last year there were 2,560 acres in the proposed sanitary district, cost $114,302.45 or $44.65 per acre.

"This year there are 960 acres in the new proposed sanitary district, cost $102,448.26 or $106.72 per acre.

"Seventeen hundred acres have been omitted and our area of 640 acres (east half of section 10 and west half of section 11) should also be omitted.

"Our present bonded debt is 14 percent. The assessment is 9.15 percent additional or a total debt of over 23 percent of the assessed value.

"A satisfactory system for the business and crowded area could be built for less than $25,000.

"An increase in our tax burden is unwise at this time, and especially so if we get no benefit from the increase.

"Please sign the enclosed card, mail promptly with present address, and if possible be present at the Riverside hearing on May 27.

"Respectfully,
"R. H. HOOD,
"P. O. Box 1445, Palm Springs."

Residents in the district who oppose incorporation and who favor the proposed sanitary district, claim a sewer system is vital to the entire community. "It is as important as insurance of any sort," said one resident yesterday. We have been fortunate in the past that no epidemic has ever occurred here, but if such a thing should happen, property owners in the north would suffer as much as those in any other part of town. We buy life insurance while we still have good health. For the same reason we should buy health insurance for the community in the form of an adequate sewer system."

The matter before the board of supervisors at this time is to form a sanitary district. Sewer bonds can not be voted until the district is formed. It is claimed by some residents that Mr. Hood's estimate of $106.72 per acre to build the sewer is erroneous, due to the fact that the assessment is on property valuation, and naturally the down-town area with its high real estate values and expensive improvements will pay a far greater proportion per acre than other areas. They also state that Palm Springs will not have to pay the full amount, for the labor and a large part of the material will be supplied from funds coming from the federal government's public works appropriation.

When interviewed yesterday, Mr. Hood stated there are three things Palm Springs should do: First—obtain a branch high school so that it would be unnecessary to transport school children to Banning; second, remedy unsanitary conditions on the Indian reservation; third, build an inexpensive sewer system for the business section.

The bulb is brightly lighted as long as the jug is on the table, but when the jug is taken from the table, the light goes out. The jug is tightly closed, and it is not connected in the table with wires or any other manner.

ANOTHER "TOWNSEND PLAN"

A contemporary writer has a plan that beats the Townsend plan "all hollow."

He says:

"We don't claim a great deal of credit for it, but the fact is that we have a Townsend plan all our own. What we propose is simply to stand the Townsend plan on its head.

"Instead of paying pensions to everyone over sixty, we suggest that a pension of $200 a month be paid to each person between the ages of 20 and 50 who will agree to stop work at once and devote his entire time to spending his money.

"This is not so crazy as it sounds. The object of the Townsend plan is to put money into circulation, and everyone knows that the young can spend twice as fast as the old. Furthermore, our plan would enable Americans to complete their education, marry, travel and practice the fine art of living while they are still in the prime of life.

"Along with these features, our plan would put the work of the world into the hands of those best able to handle it. Citizens over fifty can work longer and harder than the young, never come to the office with a hangover, are not upset by love affairs, and have long since outgrown the idea that they are smarter than the boss.

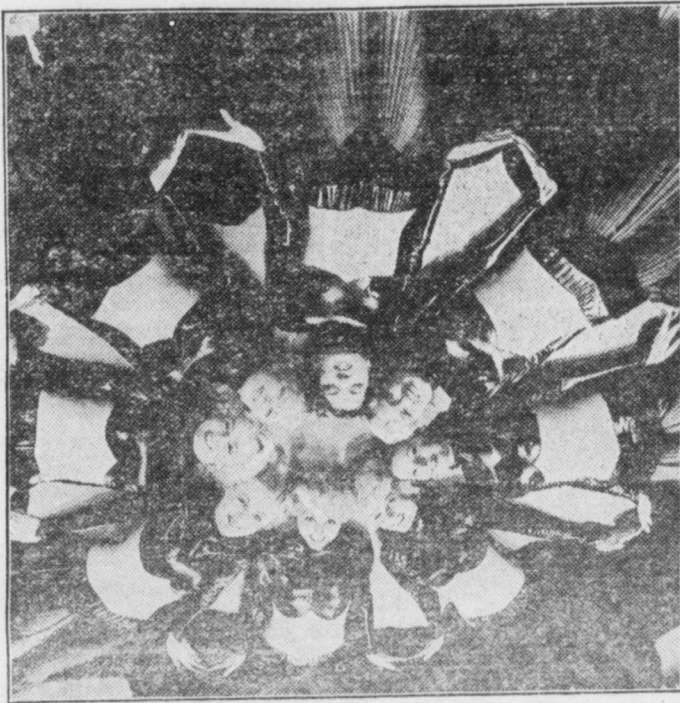

"Maybe our plan is cuckoo, but if it is, we defy the world to show us why and where."

The depression has produced, among other things, some strange paradoxes. Want among millions in a land of plenty is incongruous in itself, yet is made more so by the fact that despite the legions seeking employment, some industries are finding it difficult, if not impossible, to obtain certain types of workers. The scarcity concerns the skilled employe, and unfortunately, the unskilled individual predominates in the ranks of the idle.

To committeemen pondering how to secure jobs for the idle we suggest a conference with Ma on how she manages it on Pa's day off.

Women are divided into two main classes—those who don't believe everything their husbands tell them and those who haven't any husbands.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" Is Season's Smash Hit

"Gold Diggers of 1935" will be shown at the Palm Springs Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, May 8 and 9.

Audiences who have seen "Gold Diggers of 1935," unanimously declare it not only the last word in musical spectacles, but so replete with novel innovations, so full of subtle humor and ridiculous situations that even without the gorgeous scenes, the hundreds of dancing girls and the catchy music, this newest First National musical could have been screened as a farce comedy and furnished an evening of fine entertainment.

Several things are demonstrated in the picture. First, that Busby Berkeley is as great a production director as he is a creator of dance numbers; second, that Dick Powell is improving with each performance and is now a finished actor as well as singer; third, that the spectacles are really spectacular and finally that the three feature songs are destined to be instantaneous hits.

While "Gold Diggers of 1935" is funny, there is a serious romance running through the plot, with Powell and Gloria Stuart portraying the lovers. Frank McHugh and Dorothy Dare also have a serio-comic love affair. Incidentally, Glenda Farrell, the only "lady gold digger" in the story, takes Hugh Herbert over the hurdles over a piece of change.

Powell, a medical student who works as a clerk in a fashionable summer hotel, is engaged by Alice Brady, parsimonious wealthy widow, to escort her daughter, Gloria Stuart, on a found of festivities during the summer, as a reward for Gloria's promise to marry Hugh Herbert, an eccentric millionaire who writes articles about snuff, in the Fall.

Alice's son, Frank McHugh, has been clipped by four divorced wives for $400,000, and when he falls for Dorothy Dare, the hotel hostess, Alice is a bit annoyed. She is more annoyed, however, when she discovers that Adolphe Menjou and Joseph Cawthorn, respectively a theatrical producer and a scenery builder, have let her in for a $40,000 deficit on a Milk Fund show she sponsored. Of course, when she discovers that Herbert has been caught in a trap by Glenda Farrell, she feels worse, and is reconciled to the wedding of Dick and Gloria only because she thinks that, with all the shocks, it will be cheaper to have a doctor in the family.

Grant Mitchell is the chiseling hotel manager, and a score of other film favorites hold out their palms during the progress of the play.

DR. H. L. COFFMAN, FORMER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Dr. Harry Lee Coffman, resident of Palm Springs eighteen years ago, died on Tuesday, April 30, at his home in Alpine, California, where he was a physician in a sanatorium. Death came suddenly after only a few hours' illness.

Dr. Coffman is remembered by pioneer residents of this village. He was the son of the late Charles A. Coffman, brother of Mrs. Herbert A. White, and father of Owen Earl Coffman of the Desert Inn. He was born at Sacramento October 1, 1866.

Funeral services were held at San Bernardino yesterday, May 2nd, with cremation in the Mausoleum in Mountain View Cemetery. Friends and relatives of Palm Springs attended the funeral.

HANDLER TO WRITE HISTORY OF VILLAGE

Alvin Handler received word this week that he is to write an article on Palm Springs for a nationally known magazine. The probable theme of the article will be the prosperity of Palm Springs through the depression.

A short history of Palm Springs will be given in the article, together with such items of interest as its growth and building activity. Anyone with interesting sidelights may give them to Mr. Handler, who says such help will be most acceptable.

MORE PENAL TAXES

The scheme of double taxation of estates now being drafted in Washington, if it is correctly described, is well designed not to "distribute wealth" but to distribute poverty. It is being planned to wipe out large holdings of decedents by taxing them once as estates, and again as income of the recipients—as much as 85 percent of the whole being taken in the case of large estates.

If any such thing were attempted, it would not only cause the disappearance of the remaining 15 percent, in most cases, but would wipe out whole industries on whose prosperity the welfare of thousands depends, cause stock-market panics and permanently block the flow of necessary capital into productive enterprise.

The fallacy of this proposal is that it considers fortunes as being cash, or the equivalent—securities which can readily be sold at book or appraised value. It ignores the fact that most fortunes are in assets not readily negotiable, which would bring at forced sale only a fraction of their worth. Unless estate appraisers were permitted to make heavy write-downs of such assets—which they cannot do under existing law—to compensate for the losses of liquidation, most heirs would owe the government huge sums before the tax settlement was concluded.

The fortune of Henry Ford is commonly estimated at $1,000,000,000, which probably is a fair enough capitalization of his average income. Most of this represents the "going concern" value of the Ford Motor Company in charge of Ford's organizing genius. Does anybody suppose it could pay $850,000,000 in taxes at one time without wrecking it? The Ford Motor Company could not be sold for $1,000,000,000 or anything like it, in any conceivable market.

The complete wiping out of estates would only be prevented by having them in cash, though extreme diversification of investment would be some safeguard. If in securities, liquidation would mean throwing huge blocks on the market with consequent depression in price and loss to all other holders; calling of collateral loans, and depression and deflation. But if estates are kept in cash, how will industry be financed? And if industry is not financed how will goods be produced?

The "brain trust" appears to be getting ready to lay another rotten egg. —Los Angeles Times.

HORRIBLE HOMOLOGOUS HOLOCAUST

The cub reporter describing his first fire is a standard figure in the drama of our journalism, but few of his efforts are as good as this sentence once printed in the Neenah (Wis.) "Times":

The night itself; the time, the fire starting in homologous portions of the two buildings simultaneously are facts which envelop the conflagration in more or less mystery.

Evidently the cub reporter had taken a professional course by mail.

Flower Cycle

After the flowers have bloomed and their fragrance departed,
Wise Nature has work for her plantlife to do;
She has paid off the insects that scattered their pollen
With sweet rewards of rich honeydew.

I wonder if colors we think so alluring,
That brighten our landscapes with beauty in spring
Appeal to those insects as well as the nectar
They sip as there that pollen they bring.

Now the life in her garden for Nature is building
Its strength into structures of fruit and of seed,
That will give vim and strength to all of her creatures,
The birds and the beasts, the insects and humans, in need,

And so life goes on in Nature's fair garden
And she lavishes beauty with generous hand,
But, alas, it is man is the one great destroyer,
Who greedily plucks gems of her sweet flowerland!

Then he casts them away, all withered and wan,
After unkindness they briefly endure,
Deprived of the homes where they pleasantly thrive
With cool morning dew and the sunshine so pure.

So, the cycle runs on from flower to fruit
And from fruit to flower forevermore,
In a beautiful pageant of unending growth,
And in colors and forms that all must adore.

—Robert L. Edwards.

WASHINGTON WEEKLY LETTER (By Special Correspondent)

Washington, D. C.—The week just passed gives almost certain proof that the legislative complications will make for a continuation of the current session well into summer before Congressmen head for home.

Just a glimpse will tell why. A real battle is ahead on the banking bill, which will see the conservative stalwarts fighting with Senator Glass to prevent further centralization of federal power over the banking system, and with monetary liberals fighting for it. The holding company bill, if newspaper polls are reliable, has rocks ahead of it, at least in its present form. June 16 approaches, and as yet the Senate finance committee shows no signs of progress with its NRA bill. The House committee hasn't started, and if they don't do something by June 16th, the authorization for the present National Recovery Administration will have automatically expired. Then top this all off with Secretary Wallace's insistence on his AAA amendments, which would give further governmental control over processors. And the bonus presents as hard a nut to crack as ever, not to mention the prospects of a possible Senate filibuster over the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill.

On the latter the Southern Congress who individually denounce lynching in the strongest terms, contend Federal authority against "that vile form of collective murder," to use President Roosevelt's expression, would do no good and might injure the cause. They are prepared to filibuster, which situation recalls a similar bill being filibustered out of existence by Senator Harrison and Senator Underwood thirteen years ago. That bill had previously passed the House by a 2 to 1 vote. The present proposal, as explained by Senator Costigan, does not make lynching a Federal crime and provide Federal enforcement. Rather it provides an economic incentive for law-abiding majority sentiment through imposition of heavy fines in any county where mob violence occurs, the fine being paid the injured person or his estate. It also subjects officers wilfully neglecting their duties to certain penalties, with jurisdiction in Federal Courts.

As this is written the bonus controversy is in the formative stage. Senator Harrison's compromise bill was estimated in committee hearing by General Hines, Veterans' administrator, to carry an immediate Treasury obligation to the veterans of $558,253,000. The Patman bill would add $1,560,501,000. The Harrison bill moves back the starting date of the twenty year certificates from 1925 to 1918, but allows a 25 percent grant Congress had provided for deferred payment. Thus veterans would be unable to collect their full maturities until about 1942. Senator Connally secured the adoption of an amendment giving the veterans an option of cash or bonds. While Patman contends payment of his bill can be made without increasing either taxes or the national debt, Secretary Morgenthau told the Senate Committee that Congress will have to pass additional levies to the tune of $600,000,000. Patman's explanation is that the legal tender notes which his bill would authorize to be issued for payment of the remaining value of the adjusted compensation certificates would be backed by the credit of the nation, similar to other currency.

Through the R. F. C. the Administration has moved to close another gap caused in our credit structure by the failure of private banks to make loans. The newly created Reconstruction Finance Corporation Mortgage Company, with a capital of ten million dollars, but with borrowing power much in excess of that limitation, is authorized to refinance mortgages on business buildings, apartment houses, or factories. Full information in circular form about such loans may be secured by writing Congressman Sam L. Collins, at Washington. . . . With the President's proclamation the night of April 24th, which boosted the price of silver to 77.57, highest price for the metal in 15 years, the Administration demonstrated that it intends to enforce the discretionary provisions of the silver purchase act of 1934, and intends to continue to purchase silver until the price reaches $1.29 an ounce, or until the Government's silver stocks reach a third of the value of gold stocks.

SO SAY WE ALL

The Sacramento Union is convinced that what is the matter with California is that there is too much chasing of rainbows and the Legislature going around in circles attending to trivial things and avoiding the essentials. Maybe this is a true analysis of what is wrong with us, but that there is plenty wrong one soon learns when he stops to talk with a person on the street corner. And the worst of the whole matter is that the nation at large is pretty much in the same fix as California. Sanity will ultimately prevail, however, and things will become righted once more if one may judge by experiences of the past. —Alameda Times-Star.

ASK PHILLIPS TO DEFEAT PROPOSED REAL ESTATE TAX

A petition is being circulated in Palm Springs this week which will be sent to the Hon. John Phillips, representative in the State Assembly from this district, requesting his cooperation to defeat the proposed state ad valorem tax on real estate. The petition is being circulated by members of the local Realty Board.

According to estimates of tax experts, real estate has heretofore borne 75 percent of the cost of the state government, and less than 28 percent of the business income.

It is of vital interest to all property owners that their assemblyman be apprised of their opposition to this bill.

"If you are a property owner, write Assemblyman John Phillips that you oppose the movement for a state ad valorem tax, requests the president of the local Realty Board, John G. Munholland.

SIERRA CLUB TO SPEND WEEK-END IN THIS VICINITY

The Southern California chapter of the Sierra Club, will spend this week-end in the vicinity of Palm Springs, it was revealed yesterday.

They plan to camp in Eagle canyon tonight. Saturday they will hike up Murray canyon and come down it. Saturday night they will again camp in Eagle canyon, hiking up to the palms some time in the evening. On Sunday the enthusiastic mountaineers will take off more shoe leather hiking up Chino canyon.

The Southern California chapter has a reputation for braving the elements, the weather very seldom interfering with their plans, so rain or shine they will probably begin appearing in Palm Springs late this afternoon.

The Sierra Club does much to stimulate the interest of the people of California in their mountains and in preserving its forests. The purpose of the club is to explore, enjoy, and render accessible the mountain regions of the Pacific coast; to publish authentic information concerning them; to enlist the support and co-operation of the people and the government in preserving the forests and other natural features of the Sierra Nevada (from the constitution of the Sierra Club).

LEGISLATURE MAY PLACE LIMIT ON CITIES' LIABILITY

Municipalities are seeking the aid of the legislature in ending a growing racket to obtain excessive judgments for injuries on public thoroughfares.

Success is predicted for a measure to limit the liability of a city to $5000 for one person or $10,000 for more than one and to $1000 property damage. It is intended to partially aid cities in combating court actions of persons who claim injuries because of defective sidewalks or streets.

Proponents said that municipalities were unable to obtain insurance for such protection except at exorbitant rates because there was no limit to the amount of liability. It was predicted that bill would facilitate lower cost insurance. Oakland is the only city of size in the state at present insuring itself for such liability.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon includes the verses from Matthew: "And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed; and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth. And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house."

The Lesson-Sermon presents also these passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus healed sickness and sin by one and the same metaphysical process." "Both cures require the same method and are inseparable in Truth."

MR. AND MRS. CUFFE TO TOUR ALASKA

Leslie Cuffe, owner and manager of the Casa Palmeras Apartments, plans to leave for Alaska some time after June 1. Mrs. Cuffe will accompany her husband.

Tentative plans are to produce an educational film, probably five reels in length, of Alaska within the Arctic Circle, as well as of the Yukon region and parts of southern Alaska. Making up the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Cuffe, a cameraman, technician, and assistants.

Last Thursday Mr. Cuffe attended the motion picture showing of Alaska and lecture given by Father Hubbard (the Padre of the Glaciers), at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles. One interesting thing seen was the pictorial recording over a period of eight years' time of the gradual formation of a glacier.

Mr. Cuffe before coming to Palm Springs was identified with the motion picture industry. He will produce this film independently.

ADDITIONAL REPORT OF THE GREAT CIRCLE TOUR MEETING AT DESERT INN LAST WEEK

At the meeting of the Great Circle Tour Association in the Desert Inn last week, President Earl Coffman of the Association reported that the Automobile Club of Southern California has issued 240,000 maps of the route of the tour. The Association has published 50,000 24-page four-color Great Circle Tour booklets, 25,000 of which have been distributed. The balance will be distributed at the State building during the San Diego Exposition. A detailed report was published in last week's issue of The Desert Sun, but lack of space prevented publishing the list of names of those who attended the Palm Springs meeting.

Following were the members and guests present at the luncheon-meeting: E. J. Caldwell, manager Casa de Manana, La Jolla; Irving G. May, manager Hotel Del Mar, Del Mar; Warren B. Pinney, El Mirador, Palm Springs; Donald MacLean, Allied Properties, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Gethin Williams, La Valencia Hotel, La Jolla; Harry N. SCHOOL HAS ANNUAL "PLAY DAY" TODAY

The annual Play Day of the Palm Springs School was held today at the Desert Golf Course, with most of the day being given over to the traditional sports and other events.

The program started at 9:20 a. m. and continued throughout the day until late afternoon, an hour and a half off for lunch being the only interruption.

Dances, athletic events and singing were included in the program. The residents and visitors of Springs were all invited.

Annual Party for Central Hotel Employees

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray entertained with a dinner and dance Wednesday evening for the employees of the Central Hotel, Annex, and Apartments. The dinner was held on the porch of The Annex, after which the tables were cleared away and Mr. Gray and his employees held open house for their friends of the community, about a hundred enjoying the dance on the porch. A bar had been set up and refreshments were served to all.

The Central Hotel dinner dance is an annual event, and is looked forward to with happy expectations by employees and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gray.
